

25 August 2000

European Commission clearance obtained for proposed sale of European food manufacturing business

The European Commission has today given clearance for the proposed sale of Tomkins European food manufacturing business to a company established by Doughty Hanson & Co. As previously announced, completion of the sale is expected to take place shortly.